

MARRIAGE RECORDS - ARKANSAS CO., ARKANSAS
(1808 - 1819)

The following appear to be all marriages recorded in Arkansas County from the time the Louisiana Purchase was acquired by the United States in 1803 until the organization of the Territory of Arkansas in 1819.

These marriages are recorded in the Deed Record Books in the office of the Circuit Clerk at DeWitt, Arkansas, and were abstracted through a page to page examination of unbound Record Book A, Deed Record Book B and Deed Record Book C. An examination of the following two deed books did not reveal any additional marriage records.

The earliest extant marriage records held by the County Clerk at DeWitt are found in Marriage Record Book B with opening date of March 1839. Apparently there was a Marriage Record Book A (1819 - 1839) which has been lost or destroyed.

References given for location in the records...A p253 indicates unbound Record Book A, page 253; B p68, Deed Record Book B, page 68.

"Today, the eighteenth day of the month of October of the year one thousand seven hundred ninety-three at eleven o'clock in the morning, we, the undersigned witnesses, finding Louis Lefevre to be in sound judgment, received his last wishes as follows: In the name of the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit, I commend my soul to God its creator and my body to the earth from which it came. I believe in all the mysteries of faith and other ordained by our religion C.A.R. and dispose of my belongings in the following manner:

First - I declare that my cousin Pierre Lefevre owes me 300 piasters for four years that I worked for him.

Second - I declare to have at Pierre Lefevre's two cows and three "corrujons" (as in original).

Third - I declare to have here all my personal property of which I don't remember the quantity even my rifle.

Fourth - I declare to owe nothing to anyone but anyone having a bill against me must present it and he will be paid.

Fifth - I name as my heirs the son and daughter of my cousin Pierre Lefevre, namely Pierre Ignace and Marie.

Sixth - I ask my cousin Pierre Lefevre to execute what is ordained in the five articles above to be my last wishes.

Seventh - I declare to be of sound judgment and all that is mentioned in these seven articles which compose my last wish nullify all that I have made during the course of my life.

Not knowing how to write, I make my usual mark, a cross, in the presence of Mr. Delino, and the Witnesses Messrs. DeVaugine, Duchassin and Manuel Reyes of Arkansas the 18th of October 1793. /S/ Marque X Louis Lefavre before Delino. Wit: Vaugine, S. Bt. Duchassin, Manl. Reyes". (p 13, 14)
